Framingham, MA – The 3rd Annual Membership Appreciation Day hosted by MetroWest Community Federal Credit Union took place on Thursday, September 19th, 2019. The celebration was an expression of gratitude and appreciation to credit union members for allowing MetroWest to be a part of their financial lives. Over two hundred members attended the event which included hot food, provided by local non-profit Daniel's Table, served fresh off the grill. Attendees participated in lawn games such as cornhole and were treated to ice-cream provided by Eastleigh Farms.

"We have a lot of long-time members who have been loyal to us for years," said Joseph Mansour, CEO of MetroWest Community Federal Credit Union. "This is just our way of giving back to both them and the community."

MetroWest Community Federal Credit Union's goal is to provide its members with innovative services and products to help improve their financial well-being and quality of life. A key part of that is taking the time to show their members that they are appreciated.

"I first came to MetroWest to get a better rate for my car loan," said Brad, a member for five years. "The reason I stayed is because everyone is so kind and this feels like home."
